In April 2018, 92.1% of the BLP application which reached due date were treated within 14 working days of the due date.

By comparing this table with the following table which shows the total applications received by the local authorities in April (1545), a large discrepancy is observed. The number of applications which reached due date is far below the expected figures as can be deduced from the previous months. This discrepancy could be due to teething problems with the recently introduced revamped online BLP application system integrated with the public utilities approval.
